ABOUT ME

My name is Naïm, and I am pleased to introduce myself as a candidate for this opportunity. I am excited about the prospect of taking on this experience, as I believe it represents an excellent chance for personal growth and for tackling new challenges independently.

Allow me to share a few things about myself:

Education: I am currently pursuing a degree in Computer Science, which has equipped me with technical skills and an analytical mindset. I am particularly interested in expanding my knowledge in areas such as databases, web development, and API design. I have explored tools like MySQL and worked on creating dynamic websites. Additionally, I am open and eager to learn other aspects within my field of study, as I firmly believe that continuous learning is key to remaining adaptable and growing professionally.

Skills: Throughout my studies, I have learned programming in C/C++ (object-oriented), Java, and Python, among others. I have also worked with languages like R and gained knowledge in network design and security, from implementing proper subnetting to administering operating systems. Furthermore, I have experience with both relational and non-relational databases, such as MySQL and MongoDB, which has given me a solid familiarity with SQL. Outside of my studies, I have undertaken various projects on my own, both to expand my existing skills and to learn additional technologies like HTML and CSS.

Language Proficiency: I am proficient in English and have experience holding conversations in this language. I also have basic knowledge of German.

I firmly believe that whenever an opportunity arises to do something or have an experience, it should be seized. Regardless of the outcome, mistakes are the best way to learn and grow.

In summary, I am excited about the possibility of being part of this experience and making a meaningful contribution.

I appreciate your consideration and look forward to discussing more details in a personal interview. You can provide a description of yourself here...
